PropertyRoom.com Launches In-Place Auction Program

New three-tiered service offerings cover all bases of online auctions.

Mission Viejo, CA, DATE – PropertyRoom.com, the largest site for online police auctions, announced today that it will launch an In-Place Auction Program. The new, full-service program effectively makes every step of the auction process trouble-free for both law enforcement agencies and car-buying consumers.

There are three levels of service within the In-Place Auction Program: Silver, Gold and Platinum. Platinum level service includes a wide array of benefits including checklist review and coordination with Client; listing write-up, auction launch management and marketing services; proprietary auction technology management; customer support to bidders, transaction processing, coordination of Winning Bidder payment and vehicle pick-up and off-premises auction of vehicles that include pick-up and haul-away. Silver and Gold level services include many, though not all, of the services that the Platinum level provides.

For agencies, this depth of service means nearly everything related to the auction is taken care of. The increased supply of vehicles from law enforcement agencies means greater selection and even more competitive pricing for consumers. PropertyRoom.com offers a wide range of police cruisers, including the prized Crown Vic models. Considering Ford has plans to stop selling these beloved cars to consumers next year (directing sales to government and other fleets only), car lovers will be turning to online auctions to acquire these soon-to-be classics.

Other great vehicles now available at PropertyRoom.com include:
